

Achieving the legislative goals of the tourism industry

Today, state government can be THE deciding factor in whether you succeed--or fail--in business. Pennsylvania's legislature and governor deal with issues affecting your business's bottom-line: room taxes, employer mandates, per diems, liquor regulations, and state funding for tourism marketing, to name just a few.

TravelPAC is a voluntary and bipartisan political action committee that exists to help elect qualified individuals who recognize the importance of the tourism industry. The ultimate goal of this effort is to provide a favorable business climate in which the tourism industry can prosper.

TravelPAC funds are used to directly support those state legislators who are advocates for the tourism industry.
